It is rapidly and powerfully absorbed into the very bones, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "rheumatic poisons" circulating in the blood, and drives them from the system through the natural outlets.

A VISIT TO MANITOBA.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

No. 11.

The greater portion of my last communication was devoted to the soil and its products. I shall now direct the attention of your readers to what may be styled a special branch of farming, carried on very extensively by the Hon. James McKay. He informs me that this climate and Province, and the greater part of the Northwest is peculiarly well adapted to the raising of cattle.

It is now over four years since above, one of the most sensibly delicate seasons the farmer gathered about him, were first brought into the Province, and, as yet, no case of disease has been known amongst them. The wool is of fine texture, yielding from six to eight pounds of clean wool, and from three to four pounds of skins. The same record of healthfulness is given in regard to swine.

The native cattle are seldom shavered or unless when there are extra heavy loads. The danger remaining in the ground prevents the grass from parching up, and it is said that both cattle and horses will turn from the hay stacks to eat the naturally ripened grass underneath the snow. The cattle are mostly all very large and said to be extremely hardy. They are used to break up the prairie land, and the state of grain, while in winter they are utilized on the road in drawing the Red River carts instead of horses. Large tracts of land are not out all through the valleys of the great Saskatchewan, Peace and Athabasca rivers for a distance of 1,600 miles. They are not yoked together in the usual way, but each harness separately like a horse. The great mass of horses and cattle, and as they require no feed but the native grass, and little or no care while on the journey, they are much better adapted to drawing the trunks that go out from Winnipeg than horses.

The better class of people in and around the city take great pride in

FINE HORSES.

Those driven by the half-breed are usually of small size, like those of the rural districts of Quebec, but very hardy and excellent travellers. I am informed that the majority of them do not, during their whole lives, know the taste of grain, while in winter they are seldom sheltered or fed, but allowed to run at large, stable themselves, and live on the wild grass. Some who have brought up their horses from the prairie districts of Quebec, but very hardy and excellent travellers. Coloring Butter and Cheese.

By E. B. ARNOLD, SECRETARY PATENTMAN'S ASSOCIATION.

There is constant complaint coming from both dealers in and consumers of dairy products, and we will not unavailingly witness the want of skill in producing goods which are durable, palatable and wholesome. But these same parties complain invariably that on conditions which contribute more or less directly to the very faults.

They complain. Reference is made to the demand for artificial color in butter and cheese. There is a limited demand for a pigment, or is accepted at a loss in the market.

The most favorable view that can be taken of the artificial coloring is, that it is useless and expensive, but it generally happens that it is a positive injury. It is, in fact, apparent to those who are careful to observe, that coloring in cheese is detrimental to both quality and keeping.

The matter which the color is derived—namely, or an extract of it—is not very objectionable, except that it contains a needless cost. It is a comparatively inert substance. But the strong alkali, in which it is prepared, is a different thing. An alkali invariably injures both in butter and cheese, according to the amount used.

Its chief injury is not, as one might naturally suppose, from absorbing the fats in the cheese. Its chief action upon both is upon their albuminous matter, for which it has a stronger affinity than for their fats. The powerful action of potash upon fats in extracting, leads to the supposition that its strong affinity is for fats. But this is not true. Potash has a stronger affinity for both acid and alkaline matters, of which casein in cheese is one, that it has for oleaginous substances. There is from one-half to two per cent, of fat-forming matter in butter, and it makes up about one-third of the substance of cheese. The action of potash upon cheese and other fat-forming matter is to soften, dissolve and decompose, and hence hasten their decay; and it is from this action of the alkali used to put the coloring for cheese and butter, that it injures from coloring matter in butter and cheese. Our butter and cheese are, in fact, too short lived, and we have no choice but to impair their keeping by injecting them with alkaline solutions to hurry up their decay.

The affinity between alkaline and the coloring matter in annatto, is also, and is stronger than their affinity for fats, and it is from this action that the coloring matter solutions of potash and soda are used to dissolve and take up the coloring. Fats do not have a considerable affinity for coloring matter, and are capable of taking them up quite freely. These various affi-nities of alkaline, fat and coloring matter, when used in cheese, occasion some curious changes, which it may not be altogether advisable to trace. In tracing, of which cheese is mingled with the milk of which cheese is made, is made, just before the addition of milk, the milk becomes so diluted that it is too weak, and only noticeable upon time and by the payment of attention. In the cheese the following changes occur. The potash and alkali slowly lyze the coloring matter and combine with age it, and such high authority as the executive committee and judges of the International Fair, just on giving it the final color as much importance as they do to flavor, texture and make, there is little hope of mending the injurious, expensive and foolish custom.

LATE.—The mail from the west was half an hour late today.

 val at the Lorne Rink.

POLICE COURT. For the third day in succession there was no business for transaction in the Police Court to-day.

DULL.—Business in public circles is very dull at present. No arrests were made last night, and not even a tramp sheltered in the cells.

A FORTUNE.—The Mail says: "Charles Kelo, of the Merchant Bank, Perth, has received information that he has fallen heir to the sum of $125,000 by the death of a relative."

TROTTERING RACE.—A match trotting race took place on the ice at O'Connell yesterday, between G. O. Frazer's "Flyer," and Tony Clark's "Nell O'Pion," which was won by the latter in three straight heats.
 Best time 2:55.

TARTAN IRON SWING BRIDGE.—We are informed that the County Surveyor has been authorized by the Committee of the County Council, appointed for that purpose, to commence the work of erecting the same will proceed with the same and the purchase of material as soon as practicable.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.—At the firemen's convention at Kingston, which closed yesterday, it was decided to hold the next tournament on the 17th of August. The place has not yet been decided, but the choice lies between Kingston, Cobourg and Belleville.

COLD SNOW.—Last night, in accordance with the weather office predictions, the thermometer fell considerably, the thermometer marking 11 degrees below zero.
 The temperature rose to-day, but the probability forecasted colder weather tonight.

RETURNED.—The Madco deputation who went to Toronto to Tuesday night to oppose the North Hastings Railway Bill returned yesterday, without having had a hearing before the Committee, but they are so fully convinced that they will not be able to hear the Madco deputation before Tuesday next.

THE MEETING.—The tea meeting in connection with Christ Church and St. George's, which was held last night, was quite successful. As usual, tables were spread in the butter market, and the undertaking had been enjoyed, those present adjourned upstairs into the City Hall, where, under the presidency of Mr. E. J. Sisson, an ex-character was gone through with.

JOHN STERN CHURCH.—At a special meeting of the John Stern Presbyterian Church, held on Wednesday evening, and duly called to consider the propriety of procuring an organ, the following resolution was adopted with one dissenting voice:
 "That, 'While not disapproving of the use of an instrument in aid of congregational singing, yet in view of the present circumstances of the congregation, a considerable debt still remaining on the church edifice, and other considerations, it is deemed advisable by this congregation to defer as long as possible the purchase of an organ, which the purchase of a suitable instrument would entail.'"

QUICK WORK.—The Portland (Maine) Advertiser of the 11th Feb. says:—"Mr.
 Fred Lingham, not Lincoln as printed yesterday,—of Belleville, Ontario, was telegraphed at Boston on Saturday, that a man who had engaged to furnish cattle for the steamship Quebec, had broken their contract, and asking him to supply the deficiency. He had no cattle on hand, but immediately bought up eighty head and sent them here by Saturday midnight, and Sunday afternoon they were all in the vessel's hold. Mr. Lingham has contracted for the delivery of two million dollars worth of cattle in Liverpool."

CHURCH COLLECTION.—Says the Toronto Telegram:—"There are some of people in Toronto who go to church hardly ever, and think of contributing towards the collection.
 As it costs money to keep the churches going, and as the money has to be raised by poor penurious voluntary subscriptions, people who go to church and do not give do not pay for pews, should in all fairness give their share towards meeting the expenses. It may be a matter of opinion whether the sermon is worth the contribution or not; but people should remember that if they burn up the church and do not pay the church gas, they are in duty bound to make some return for it."

POISONED BY WHISKY.—The Campbell-Herald says:—"A little four-and-a-half-year-old son of Mr. Michael McFall, of this village, was newly deprived of life from the effects of whisky, on Wednesday last. Some whisky had been into the house, and a tumbler of the 'stuff' was left behind the curtain in the bed-room.
 About four o'clock the glass was discovered. Not long afterwards the child was taken ill, and the parents became alarmed, sent for Dr. Massie.
 The doctor found the child at 10 o'clock, the doctor found the child

"ROXY."

BY EDWARD EGGLESTON.

CHAPTER I.

A WOMAN THAT WAS A SINNER.

Roxy was sleeping heavily, after a weary night, and found herself in the charge of the stepmother and Janina while she came home to breakfast. The breakfast at Le-fau's was eaten on all chaotic mornings in the open vine-covered porch overlooking the water, and here Mr. Whitaker and Twonnet sat after their washing. None of the family were aware of Whitaker's case, the best known remedy in Belleville, the ordinary poor plaster or any other external remedy included in the list of compounds and the so-called electrical applications. The pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties of this are truly extraordinary.

LAME BACK.

For Lameness or weakness of the Back, Stiffness, Pains in the side or hips, arising from colds and rheumatism, or from the use of the ordinary poor plaster or any other external remedy included in the list of compounds and the so-called electrical applications. The pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties of this are truly extraordinary.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

For Lameness or weakness of the Back, Stiffness, Pains in the side or hips, arising from colds and rheumatism, or from the use of the ordinary poor plaster or any other external remedy included in the list of compounds and the so-called electrical applications. The pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties of this are truly extraordinary.

BENSON'S CAPSINE POROUS PLASTER.

For Lameness or weakness of the Back, Stiffness, Pains in the side or hips, arising from colds and rheumatism, or from the use of the ordinary poor plaster or any other external remedy included in the list of compounds and the so-called electrical applications. The pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties of this are truly extraordinary.

A HOUSE OF CRIME. THE COUNTERPART OF MADAME RAVEL. A CHIEF WARRIOR WITH A SORRY MEMORY.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
New York, Feb. 17.

On Tuesday there came a news of the kind which is not often heard of in this city. It was a story of a crime, and a crime of a very unusual kind. It was a story of a man who had been found dead in a room, and who had been found with a knife in his hand.

The man was a young man, and he was found in a room which was a part of a house which was a part of a street which was a part of a city which was a part of a country which was a part of a world which was a part of a universe which was a part of a God.

The man was a young man, and he was found in a room which was a part of a house which was a part of a street which was a part of a city which was a part of a country which was a part of a world which was a part of a universe which was a part of a God.

FOURTH SESSION—THIRD PARLIAMENT.

TUESDAY, Feb. 26.

Mr. MORRIS presented the petition of several ratepayers in Toronto praying for amendment to the Landfill and Sewer Act so as to protect the goods of third parties from seizure under distress; also, for the utilization of the surplus in developing the several Mills of the Province.

The bill was introduced and some other were read a first time.

On the motion of Mr. Crooks, the House was adjourned till the whole of the Act respecting Public, Separate and High Schools.

Mr. MORRIS asked if this amendment would give the School Board of Toronto power to vote with the Municipal Council in the election of a third school, and call upon the city for funds without the ordinary limits of the School Board.

Mr. CROOKS said a check upon expenditure would be found in Sec. 23. If the clause were not sufficient, it would be made stronger by the Municipal Council power to vote with the Municipal Council power by a two-thirds vote.

Mr. BELL thought this method of checking expenditure would be found in Sec. 23. If the clause were not sufficient, it would be made stronger by the Municipal Council power to vote with the Municipal Council power by a two-thirds vote.

The clause was allowed to stand over for future consideration.
